Schedule “A” of By-law 2024-12
Permit Fee Schedule

Listed below are designations for calculating building values for the purpose of building permit fees and for various government agencies for statistical purposes.

These calculations are not for municipal property assessment (tax) purposes. The various classes of permits listed below are used for each portion of the building that meets the criteria. For example, a portion of a dwelling that is living space is calculated as such and a portion of a building that is garage is calculated accordingly, as are open decks, covered decks, etc.

The various classes of permits listed below also apply to additions to existing buildings. Calculations will be generated based on the proposed use(s) and area(s) of the addition(s). Existing uses will not be taken into consideration unless required by the Building Code.

Certain buildings/structures classified as Designated Structures shall have the estimated construction value provided by the applicant and the municipal levy applied to determine the actual permit fee. The permit fee shall be at the discretion of the C.B.O.
